PAIR WED IN YUMA AFTER PLANE HOP

Mate of Actress Only 25; Pair Surprise All Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD. (P)—Mary Astor abruptly changed her story an hour after returning from Yuma, Ariz., today and admitted she was married there early today to Manuel Martinez Del Campo, 25, of Mexico, insurance salesman with histrionic leanings.

When she stepped off the private plane she had chartered, the 30-year-old actress said reports of her marriage were "a bum steer."

"I hoped to keep it a secret for a while, on account of Manuel," she said, "but I guess you can't do it."

Del Campo received word here several days ago of the death of his father in Mexico City. Immediately after the ceremony he motored to Mexicali, Mexico, and took an airplane for the capital.

Miss Astor said he had to "settle up the estate."

"We were going to announce it when he came back," she said.

It was her third marriage.

She's Wed Again

Mary Astor, above, 30-year-old Hollywood film actress who figured in a sensational child custody case last year, surprised her film colony friends today when she admitted she flew to Yuma early today and married Manuel Martinez Del Campo, Mexican insurance salesman who aspires to be an actor. WHITE GIRL, 14, MARRIES NEGRO, 38

Pair and Her Parents Jailed; 'It's Love,' Protests Mother

SEATTLE. (P)—A mother in the city jail today stoutly defended her youthful daughter's interracial marriage to a 38-year-old negro with the declaration, "Love is all that matters."

Police, striving to break the marriage, held the bride couple, Delta Palmer Menefield and John Lee Menefield, and the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Palmer. No charges were filed against them.

Weeping over difficulties that have arisen because of the marriage here Sunday, the 50-year-old mother said she and her husband intended to stand by their daughter, a grade school pupil, and their dusky son-in-law.

Some of Talbert's Ideas in New Crop Insurance Plan

Tom Talbert, former Huntington Beach mayor, who spent some time in Washington last month working on behalf of his crop insurance plan, wasn't surprised when President Roosevelt today proposed a plan which combined features of his idea and proposals made by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

"Wallace's plan has many features with which congressmen do not agree," he said today, "and the secretary of agriculture probably won't know his own baby when congress finishes with it."

The proposed plan, Talbert pointed out, would call for erection of huge warehouses to carry, perhaps for several years, surplus crops, which would be made in wheat. Congressmen, he added, probably will make amendments to the plan, incorporating a number of Talbert's ideas in the finished product.

PROGRAM FOR WHEAT MEN SUBMITTED

Plan Would Be Buffer Against Loss, Says His Message

WASHINGTON. (P)—President Roosevelt recommended to congress today adoption of a system of crop insurance to provide the farmer with a buffer against disastrous crop failures.

He said that such insurance, coupled with a system of storage reserves for crop surpluses in good years, "would assist in providing a more nearly even flow of farm supplies, thus stabilizing farm buying power and contributing to the security of business and employment."

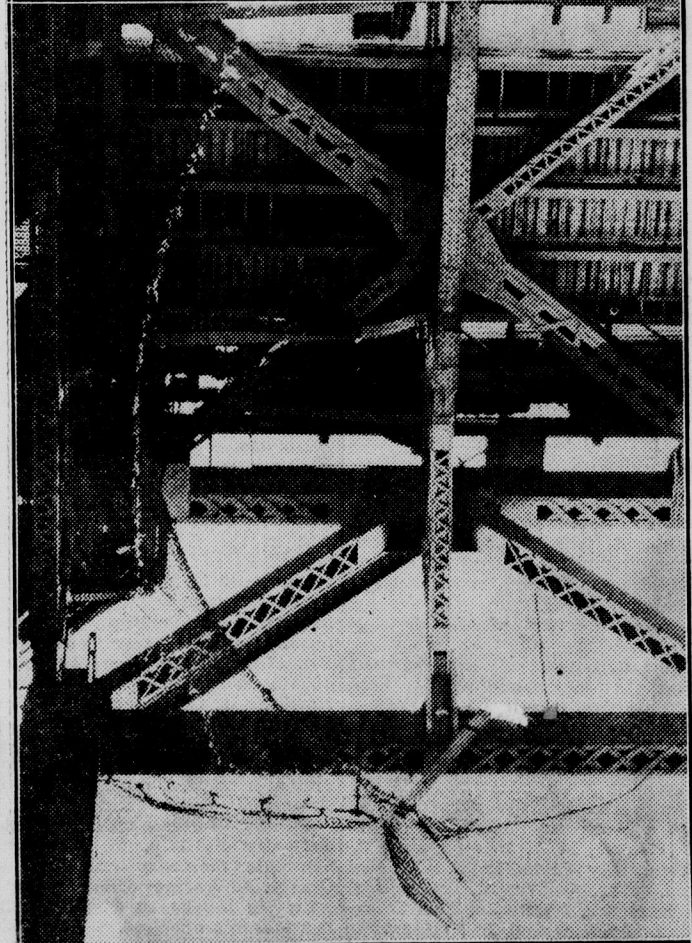

"A program of crop insurance and storage of reserves," he said, "should be part of the foundation of agricultural policy which we are building and which must include the conservation of soil and water, better land use, increased farm income and alleviation of distress in rural areas arising out of factors beyond the control of individual producers."

The President sent to congress with his message a report of his special committee of government officials which planned the insurance program.

Under the program, the insured farm would be protected against such natural hazards as drought, grasshoppers and hail.

The farmer would be protected up to 75 per cent of his normal yield. Thus if he lost his wheat crop, which would have returned (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

At least 10 men were killed when a trolley wheel on a material carrier on the Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco gave way, dropping heavy timbers and steel into the net, cut through it and plunged the men to the water 200 feet below. 10 CONCERNS OFFER SAME PRICES

Supervisors Turn Down Entire Lot and Call For New Figures

Suspecting conspiracy on the part of 10 oil companies, the board of supervisors today ordered County Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon to reject all bids for supplying Orange county with gasoline.

The county of Orange wants the best deal possible in purchase of gasoline for county use. The gasoline contract is an important one, amounting to approximately $175,000 a year.

Smelled a Rat

But when bids came in from 10 oil companies the county officials were astounded. The offers were all alike! Each of the oil companies quoted a price of 15 1/2 cents a gallon for ethyl. Each of the companies quoted a price of 12 1/2 cents for the next grade, and each of the companies quoted a price of 12 cents for third structure fuel.

The supervisors smelled a rat. So they told Fenelon to throw out all the bids and call for more—and different—bids. If there still is no difference in the bids next week, then a different course in purchase of gasoline will be pursued. What the course will be was not announced.

Want Better Price

Last year four oil companies were awarded contracts for furnishing the county with gasoline. Each of them was given orders to cover three months' needs. But if that is done this time, the business wouldn't amount to much for each company, Fenelon explained. Besides, the county thinks it can do better on the price.

There were 13 bids all together this year. Three of them, however, quoted tank wagon prices at the time of delivery, which county officials feel would not give the county much protection in regard to cost of the fuel.

TRUCK RATES UP IN AIR

New Schedule Baffles Operators, Farmers And Business

Something is going to happen to Orange county freight rates, and the prospect had truckers, farmers and distributors perplexed and worried today.

They know it's going to happen tomorrow and they don't know what it is.

Some freight rates are going up; some are going to stay where they are.

POWDER PUFF WAR BITTER

Rival Cities Hurl Hot Words in Backing Beauty Entries

Verbal nose-thumbing between two beach communities, centering around an argument as to which town could produce the most beautiful girls, reached a critical stage today.

At Laguna Beach, where Capt. George Portus started the "Battle of Beauty" by claiming his Artist Colony was inhabited by a race of super-beautiful women, committee members were scouring the town in search of talent to enter in the war.

CHURCHES PLAN CONFAB HERE

The Missionary Institute of Southern California, comprising approximately 150 ministers and laymen of the Southern Methodist church, will have an all-day session tomorrow at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church of Santa Ana.

Dr. R. P. (Fighting Bob) Shuler of Trinity church, Los Angeles, Dr. J. A. B. Fry of Long Beach, and Dr. C. C. McPeters of San Francisco, will be three of the featured speakers at the two sessions, one at 10 a. m. and one at 2 p. m.

Mrs. R. E. Page of Pomona, missionary secretary of the women's division, also will speak. The meeting is open to the public.

Open 4 Probes of Bridge Tragedy

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Four investigations were launched today into the 200-foot death plunge of 10 Golden Gate bridge workers from a collapsing scaffold. State officials said the scaffold was twice declared unsafe. Bridge builders asserted it never was criticized. The 10-ton moveable structure, suspended on wheels beneath the giant span, fell without warning when a wheel slipped from a girder on which it ran, tilting the scaffolding into its fatal plunge.

STYLE EVENT DATE SET

Santa Ana fashiondom turned its eyes on March 4 today.

That's the day the annual colorful Spring Preview and Style show will be staged by merchants of this city. The date was set at a meeting of the retail division of the chamber of commerce this morning.

At the same time the retail division and officers, chairman E. Steele, was elected chairman of the division to succeed Ivie Stein. Three executive vice chairmen were named, Mrs. Alice Peterson, F. A. Jones and Walter Swanberger.

Ivie Stein was named chairman of a committee which will contact the merchants. Stores will remain open evening of March 4. Each store will have its own form of celebration, which will take the form of living models displaying new spring styles, flowers, music and varied entertainment. It will be the biggest event of its kind ever staged in this city.

Reared in England

Del Campo has been in Hollywood about six months and is not very well known in the motion picture colony. Reared in England and educated at Oxford, the 25-year-old film aspirant's closest friends are among the expatriate Britons of the motion picture world.

The Mexican insurance salesman has been her constant escort in Hollywood society recently, but even the most daring gossips hesitated at hinting marriage.

PICKETS HALT DOCK WORK

SAN PEDRO. (P)—Two hundred seamen today picketed the waterfront, reporting for work today at the Matson line dock, refused to pass through a picket line thrown around the dock by the teamsters' union.

It was the first cessation of work by longshoremen since the end of the Pacific coast shipping strike two weeks ago. Threat of a new waterfront tie-up developed yesterday when members of the teamsters (truck drivers) union started picketing two ship line terminals.

Hearing on Child Labor Picketed

BOSTON. (P)—Approximately 100 men and women led by officials of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, today stormed from a legislative committee hearing on ratification of the federal child labor amendment and picketed the main entrance of the state capitol.

"We expect Gov. Charles F. Hurley will take some action to see that our constitutional rights are protected," Kenneth I. Taylor, legislative agent of the federation, declared as he marched in the picket line.

The governor earlier had thrown his strength against the proposed amendment which would give to congress power to limit and prohibit labor by children under 18.

Spy Suspect Asks Change in Plea

WASHINGTON. (P)—John S. Farnsworth, former naval officer charged with conspiring to communicate naval secrets to the Japanese, asked permission of the federal district court today to change his plea to "not guilty."

He threw himself on the mercy of the court on Monday, pleading nolo contendere—that we would not fight the charge. He said today that plea was made under "enormous pressure" and finally "on the flip of a coin."

Casey Sure Likes Pipe!

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—The story of Tom Casey's pipe, which he clung to as death threatened him in the Golden Gate bridge disaster, came today from Albert Tedd, a fellow worker.

Tedd said Casey, a red-haired carpenter, was working on the scaffold which collapsed, carrying 10 men to death in the Golden Gate's swift currents.

"Casey," Tedd said, "grabbed a broken cast roller and hung on, with his pipe still between his teeth."

"We yelled for him to stick, and William Foster, an inspector, and I lowered a rope to him. We pulled him up, with that darned pipe still between his teeth."

"When we got him up on the bridge deck, he stood there, white and shaky a moment; then started to say something. 'When he opened his mouth, the pipe fell out, but I'm a liar if he didn't catch it before it hit the bridge floor.'"

"Casey stuck it back in his mouth and walked off. All he said was 'boy, that was a close shave.' He sure likes his pipe."

DUST THINNING IN OKLAHOMA

GUYPON, Okla. (P)—Dust thinned slightly over the Oklahoma panhandle today, and Guymon schools reopened after a shutdown yesterday at the height of a "black blizzard." Over most of the remainder of Oklahoma the air was comparatively free from dust particles.

A dust fog of varying intensity hung over that portion of Texas extending from Dallas west to Wink, and from the middle panhandle south to San Antonio. Visibility was improving in the Texas panhandle.

Hersholt Attacks Alien Actor Bill

WASHINGTON. (P)—Motion picture executives and actors asserted today the American movie industry would be the first to suffer if congress barred foreign stage and screen stars from this country.

Jean Hersholt, known for his portrayal of the country doctor in the Dionne quintuplets' films, described himself to the house immigration committee as an example of the type of actor who would be affected. He testified on the Dickstein bill designed to "protect the artistic and earning opportunities" of American artists by excluding foreign actors.

Hersholt, Danish born, said he could not have entered the United States in 1912 had such a law been in effect.

Lady Luck Waves Wand, 'Fake' Coins Worth $44

Somewhere along his route someone slipped him two "phony" half-dollars in part payment for merchandise delivered. He knew they were fakes because they were too large, and besides, they didn't ring when he bounced them on the counter.

Today he took them to the bank, just on a chance—and was offered $22 apiece for them!

They were minted in 1827 and 1818. Around their edges are written: "50 cents—or half a dollar." The letter "h" in the "half" was left off the 1827 piece.

The truck driver rushed right home today to start a coin collection.

No Jobless in 7 Counties!

(Editor's note: This is the second of three stories by the Washington staff of the Associated Press summarizing salient facts about America's job hunters as shown in a survey made by the U. S. employment service.)

WASHINGTON. (P)—The nation's unemployed represent 6,500 out of a possible 8000 occupations.

This was shown in a survey made by the U. S. employment service, which also disclosed that of the 3,098 counties in the nation only seven had no persons registered for jobs with the federal service or affiliated state agencies when they were checked on two different dates.

Only about 150 counties have (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Jumps to Death With $1059 Roll

CHICAGO. (P)—Mrs. Anna Burnhardt, 67, rolled a $1059 in a handkerchief, pinned it to her clothing, and leaped to her death today from a hallway window on the third floor of a rooming house.

The police found a rambling, incoherent series of notes in her room, in which she wrote of her intention to end her life.

LOCAL GROUP HITS FLOOD PROBLEM

Officials Attend Los Angeles Conference To Seek Relief

Three Orange county officials were in Los Angeles today sitting in at an important conference on flood control matters. The officials from this county are Supervisors Harry D. Riley and N. E. West and Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson.

The boards of supervisors of 11 Southern California counties were meeting with state and federal agency representatives at Los Angeles today to consider flood control and water problems. The meeting was called by Herbert C. Legg, chairman of the flood control committee of the Los Angeles board of supervisors.

A statement made today by Supervisor Legg said: "It is of the utmost importance that the counties of this state join in this matter to the end we may have a closer contact with federal agencies."

"Our failure to do so in the past has lost the state many millions of dollars that should have come to us with more diligent activity and closer cooperation among ourselves," he declared.

MORE ABOUT TRUCK RATES

On the other hand you might not find out, because more changes are being made daily. After all-day meetings Monday and Tuesday, the railroad commission was holding one final meeting this afternoon, at which the details were to be ironed out.

Briefly, according to local Farm Bureau officials and truckers, the situation is this:

Small Truckers
The railroad commission is setting up a new system of freight rates, based on three major premises—those of actual cost, unit wage, and hour requirements, and zones.

It is an equalizing proposition. The small trucking company, which formerly had been underbidding some large companies, will be forced to conform to a uniform rate. Being based on a 10-mile scale, the changes probably will not affect strictly intra-city trucking, but will change all rates involving hauls of a distance of more than 10 miles.

It will cost farmers just the same to haul a load of fertilizer from the warehouse in Santa Ana to your farm in Garden Grove, but it will cost either more or less to haul a load from Wilmington to the warehouse.

Farm Bureau Opposed
Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the farm bureau said the farm bureau federation is fighting the proposed changes, but he was unable to say just why, because the farm bureau here has received no definite information on what the changes actually are.

Neither has anyone else, as far as The Journal was able to find out today.
But the changes go into effect tomorrow—with 30 days allowed for fulfillment of old contracts.
In a few days the public will know what they are. But in the meantime truckers, farm bureau and distributors agree on one thing—whatever the changes in price, they will be absorbed in the long run by just one person—the ultimate consumer.

MORE ABOUT MARY ASTOR

No one apparently was more surprised by the elopement flight to Yuma than Dr. Franklin Thorpe, the surgeon who divorced Miss Astor two years ago. He said he talked with her last night and while she mentioned Del Campo's prospective Mexico City trip she gave no indication she was embarking on her third marriage. Dr. Thorpe was to start out today with Clark Gable, film actor, on a hunting trip into mountain fastnesses of Arizona.

MARRIED BY JUDGE OF SUPERIOR COURT
YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Mary Astor, of screen and diary fame, eloped here today from Hollywood, kissed her new husband, rushed by auto with him to the Mexican border and saw him leave alone for Mexico City.

The bridegroom is Manuel Del Campo, Mexico City insurance salesman.
The elopement plane landed here shortly after midnight, and the couple sped to the home of Superior Judge Henry C. Kelly and were wed. Later the judge said he really didn't know it was Mary Astor. She gave the name of Lucille L. Thorpe; her maiden name was Lucille Langhanke.

Sought Secrecy
Interviewers caught up with her there, but she sought to suppress the news of her elopement, blandly saying she simply accompanied the insurance salesman to bid him farewell on his flight south. She did not attempt to explain, however, the devious route of airplane to Yuma, with a visit to the

PARKING AGAIN A.F. NOWOTNY IS CALLED

The matter of solving Santa Ana's parking problem came to the front again at a meeting of the chamber of commerce retail division yesterday. It was decided to turn over ideas on the matter to the young men's business group headed by W. F. Croddy. It was indicated that activity will begin again on a plan to operate parking lots for patrons of local stores, with refund of parking costs when purchases are made.

Merchants at the meeting reached a decision to take a more active interest in the future in all matters which affect business men, including routing of a proposed new through road through the city.

New directors of the division who met this morning to outline plans and name officials included J. C. Turner, Sam Hurwitz, Lester Carden, Hugh Lowe, Walter Vandermast, Walter Swanberger, C. B. Steele, F. E. J. Ronsholdt, Stewart C. Scouler, Mrs. Rose Walker, J. B. Mattingly, Fred Newcomb, T. P. Sheffield, Mrs. Alice Peterson, Samuel Hart, H. P. Rankin, F. A. Jones, George J. Kidd, Ray Chandler, J. C. Horton, Harold Wright, Mrs. Ida Wiesseman, Ivie Stein, Earl Toles, E. L. Spencer and John Knox.

TELLS BOMBING HEALTH WORKER OF REFUGEES DISCHARGED

VALENCIA. (AP)—Spanish insurgent airplanes and warships were reported today by Dr. Norman Bethune, of Montreal, to have bombed and shelled 150,000 fleeing men, women and children during the "terrible evacuation" of captured Malaga.

The refugees, Dr. Bethune, head of the Spanish-American Transfusion Institute, said, "staggered and stumbled, with cut and bruised feet, along the white flint road while the Fascists (insurgents) bombed them from the air and from the sea."

Dr. Bethune said he saw the flight from the southern seaport, captured by the insurgents Feb. 8, during a trip from Barcelona by a truck load of refrigerated blood for transfusions.

"Imagine," he said, "150,000 men, women and children setting out for safety to a town situated more than 100 miles away with only one road to take on a journey requiring five days and five nights at least."

Then on the evening of Feb. 12, Dr. Bethune said, "when the little seaport of Almeria was completely filled with refugees who though they had reached a haven of safety, German and Italian airplanes dropped 10 bombs in the very center of town where refugees were sleeping, huddled so closely together on the main street an auto could pass only with great difficulty."
"The street was a shambles of dead and dying. Moans of wounded children and the shrieks of agonized mothers rose in a massed cry higher and higher to a pitch of intolerable intensity."

Tells Criticism Of Pacific Life

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Sharp criticism of loan and other practices of the old Pacific Mutual Insurance company was called to the attention of E. Forrest Mitchell, state insurance commissioner, in 1932. Lawrence Roubie, former supervising examiner of the department told the Donihue committee today.
Roubie said the report of examiners which he supervised in 1932 contained blunt complaints against what was regarded as "pernicious conditions in the management of the old Pacific Mutual Co. He said this report was available to Mitchell and that while he has no official knowledge of what if any action the latter took, he assumes representations were made to the company as "most of its objectionable practices stopped at once."

FARM TENANT PLANS WIN SUPPORT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Democratic farm leaders in congress, expressing general approval of the President's long-term recommendations to aid tenant farmers, will hasten consideration of low interest loans for the purchase of land.

The house agricultural committee today heard suggestions from the President's tenancy commission preparatory to drafting a measure. The committee has been studying a proposal by Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) and Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) to set aside $500,000,000 for loans to tenants, share-croppers and farm laborers desiring to buy farms.

This probably will be the basis of the final bill, Jones said. A senate sub-committee headed by Senator Pope (D., Ida.) will begin hearings within 10 days on the commission's seven-point program to help 2,865,000 tenants become landowners.

These recommendations, submitted to congress Tuesday by Mr. Roosevelt, call for a confiscatory tax on quick profits from land speculation, a 40-year payment plan for tenants buying land with title withheld for 20 years, and retirement of between two and five million acres of poor cropland each year.

A farm security administration would be set up in the agriculture department to direct the projects. Jones said the President's message was a good one, but suggested broadening the recommendations. "I believe the tenant should be given title as soon as he can pay for a farm," Jones said. "We could use the money to help other tenants become landowners."

Chair Made Ready For Two Slayers

CHICAGO. (AP)—Guards at the Cook county jail prepared the electric chair today for the execution of two or four condemned murderers.

Rufus Swain, 27-year-old negro policy game runner, convicted of slaying Mrs. Mary Louise Trammel with a water pitcher in her hotel room, was scheduled to die at two minutes past midnight. Thrice reprieved, Joseph Rappaport, 30, was to follow Swain to the chair within a few minutes. Rappaport was convicted of murdering Max Dent, government informer, who was to have been a witness at Rappaport's trial on a narcotics charge.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Winbiger mortuary with the Rev. George A. Warner officiating and burial in Fairhaven cemetery under Masonic auspices.

HEALTH WORKER DISCHARGED

Despite protests of coastline city officials, D. H. Westmoreland, county sanitary inspector, has been discharged, and Thomas Murphy, jr., has been appointed in his place, it was learned today.

Murphy has left his position as deputy sheriff to take the new county job.

Westmoreland ended his work Saturday, but will have two weeks vacation. Neither Supervisor N. E. West, committeeman over the health department, nor any other supervisor mentioned the fact that Westmoreland had actually been dismissed, when the matter was discussed Tuesday at the board meeting.

Ray Overacker, Huntington Beach city attorney, and other officials of the city protested at that time the movement to oust Westmoreland, and were told that their protest would be taken into consideration when the matter came before the board.

Seek to Recall 'Skipper' Policies

For three years Sam Meyer, Newport Beach publisher, and M. S. "Robbie" Robinson worked together, apparently without a written agreement, in publishing and editing "Pacific Skipper," a yachting magazine.

Today they found themselves in superior court with Superior Judge H. G. Ames and a crew of attorneys attempting to determine what their understanding and agreement were on the publishing venture.

Meyer, whose Newport Harbor Publishing company has sold the magazine to A. S. Oko, jr., under a conditional contract, contends his firm is sole owner, and Robinson contends he owns a half interest.

Baby Born After Mother Succumbs

MADERA. (AP)—Physicians were successful today in their efforts to save the life of a baby born 15 minutes after her mother died.

Mrs. Delphia Greenwood of Chowchilla suffered a heart attack yesterday. Realizing the attack would undoubtedly prove fatal, her physicians decided on a Caesarian operation.
Before they could perform it, the mother died, but they went ahead and 15 minutes later delivered the baby girl, who showed only the faintest spark of life. Firemen were called in, and after 45 minutes of artificial respiration the baby was pronounced alive and well. The physicians expressed belief she would survive.

Occupations Classified
The occupations of the persons looking for work are shown in this percentage table:

Occupation	Men	Women
Professional and kindred work	3.5	5.6
Salespersons	3.1	4.8
Clerical	4.4	15.5

Service workers (domestic, janitors, beauty operators, etc.) 6.7 50.9
Skilled workers 22.6 3.6
Semi-skilled workers 26.6 8.5
Unskilled workers 25.7 2.1
Unassigned 4.4 9.0

These figures may vary seasonally but comparative studies of the federal agency indicated they are representative.

Analyzed Industrially
Analyzed industrially, the percentage figures shed more light on what the unemployed can do. The following is based on the "Last regular employment" of the job hunters:

Industry	Men	Women
Agriculture, forestry, fishing	1.6	2
Construction (public and private)	14.3	2
Manufacturing, extraction of minerals	22.0	11.0
Commercial, professional service, and finance	2.4	4.1
Distribution (wholesale and retail)	9.1	6.9
Domestic and transportation	6.0	7
Governmental service	3.6	3.2
Miscellaneous and unspecified	20.8	41.9

The agricultural figure here may be high, the survey indicates, because many farmers and farm hands seek extra jobs outside the crop seasons.

15,000 BOXES OF ORANGES HELD UP

About 15,000 boxes of oranges, damaged by frost beyond the tolerance permitted by state laws, have been withheld from fresh fruit channels in Orange county.

This announcement was made today by S. S. Rogers, chief of the state bureau of fruit and vegetable standardization, who was in Santa Ana and Orange county today on standardization work.

However, Rogers told The Journal, probably but from 2000 to 2500 boxes of the oranges withheld were grown in Orange county. He said the balance was fruit which had been brought into Orange county from other parts of the state for shipment from this county.

Rogers said that in the entire state more than 60,000 boxes of oranges were withheld from fresh fruit channels. In addition to oranges, Rogers stated about 10,000 boxes of damaged grapefruit also are being retained by state and county standardization inspectors at Southern California shipping points.

MORE ABOUT CROP PLAN

The President recommended that crop insurance be extended to wheat for the year 1938.

"I believe that legislation should authorize application of similar programs to other commodities," he said, "when it is established that producers desire them and application of the plan to wheat has provided a back log of experience in applying the principles of crop insurance."

"Only U. S. Can Do It"
The committee of federal officials who planned the insurance program told Mr. Roosevelt it was "too large an undertaking for private companies."

They said the federal government could "well afford" to pay "administrative" and overhead costs for the plan to protect farmers against crop losses by drought and other "unavoidable disasters."

Secretary Wallace, chairman of the committee, said the plan "would have the effect of storing up reserves of wheat in years of large crops and releasing them on

PLAYERS SEEK OLD CLOTHES

Old trunks are being emptied and articles of clothing which had not seen the light for 10, these many years are being shaken out of their folds and modelled in surprising fashion as Community Players busy themselves with preparations for their next play.

Going back into the last century for this third dramatic presentation of the season, Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," the women players especially are having difficulty finding the right kind of dresses and hats for the atmosphere of the sophisticated English comedy.

Large plumed hats and leg-o-mutton sleeves, sweeping skirts and bustles are in demand, and the things grandmother wore when she was a girl are coming into their own again.

All members of the cast are over the flu now and back at work on rehearsals for the play, which will be presented March 5 and 6 in the Ebell clubhouse auditorium, under direction of Gladys Shafer.

The insurance was not a "substitute" for any other federal farm measures, he said, but rather "supplementary."

WARD'S STORE GREET'S NEW MANAGER

Santa Ana has the greatest business possibilities of any town or city on the Pacific Coast. In addition to its many other advantages.

This is the firm belief of Leonard L. Hurst, new manager of the big Montgomery Ward company store here at the southeast corner of Fourth and Main streets.

Hurst brought his family to Santa Ana last night. Right now the housing problem is perplexing him. But soon he hopes to have Mrs. Hurst and their daughter, Virginia Lee, established in a permanent home. Virginia Lee Hurst will enter high school here as a junior.

The new Ward company store manager has been with the national firm for four years. He comes here from Bellingham, Wash., where he was manager of the Ward store and was prominently identified with the Rotary club and civic movements.

Long before he came to this city, he was highly impressed with the many advantages the city offers, he said, and had determined years ago to settle here at the first opportunity. He was here for a short time three years ago and then, more than ever before, that Santa Ana was the city where he wanted to live. He likes the town itself, its location, its people and its business possibilities.

"Santa Ana," he said, "has the best business possibilities of any community on the Pacific coast, and I should know because I have investigated all of them. There are many things here that you can't get anywhere else in the world. You can depend on me and this organization to take an active part in any community work or any activity for the good of the town."

Hurst is a graduate of the University of Kansas and a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. His hobby is football. He played the game for eight years, four years in high school and four years at the University of Kansas.

Here's aroma for you

... a picture of Chesterfield tobacco just as it comes out of the 1000-pound wooden hogsheds after ageing for three years.

If you could be there when these hundreds of hogsheds are opened up ... if you could see this mild ripe tobacco, prime and ready to be made into Chesterfield Cigarettes ... see the golden color of the leaf ... and get a whiff of that delightful aroma ... you'd say ...

"Delicious ... makes me think of fruit cake."

Mild, ripe home-grown and aromatic Turkish tobaccos... aged three years... make Chesterfield an outstanding cigarette... give them a more pleasing taste and aroma.

PRESIDENT OF U. C. MEETS ALUMNI

Local Graduates Plan To Form Informal Association

Pointing to the many contributions of the University of California and its graduates to society, President Robert Gordon Sproul last night stressed the value of the widespread university at a gathering of Orange county California alumni in American Legion hall.

Formation of an informal association of graduates of the Berkeley campus was announced by John Lutz, who said the first meeting will be held Friday noon in Eddie's cafe here.

Defends Budget
"The best scholars need costly research facilities and the stimulating contact with other trained minds," Dr. Sproul stated.

"We are trying to get together as much as possible of the knowledge of the world, and turn it to the use of the world."

He defended his proposed budget increase for the coming year as necessary to repair "damage" done by depression budgets and meet anticipated increases in enrollment.

Blower Pays Tribute
A musical program by the university glee club and motion picture of the last U. C.-Stanford football game were features of the evening.

Floyd Blower, former Santa Ana who achieved athletic fame at U. C., paid tribute to Paul Jacques, Harry Lutz and others from Orange county who contributed athletic prowess.

Robert Shibley, manager of the alumni association, introduced Deputy Sheriff James Workman as a member of the 1928 rowing crew which won a world championship.

LODGE CIRCUS PLANS LAID
Cards, dancing, vaudeville entertainment and refreshments are on the program for Santa Ana's first "circus," which is to be staged Saturday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Masonic temple.

The vaudeville will start off the events and will be followed by cards, dancing, and variety entertainment in three different parts of the temple.

With Lee Boyle as general chairman and Lyle (Andy) Anderson as master of ceremonies, a corps of committees is working toward the success of the event, at which all Masons and their invited guests will be welcome, free of charge.

Committees are as follows: Cards, T. W. Hunter, chairman, Mrs. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hamblet and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Anderson; dance, James Rhine, chairman, G. K. Scovel, D. A. Jones, and Walter Wright; entertainment, J. C. Sutherland, chairman, Lyle Anderson, George Wheeler, Courtney Chandler and Harold Yost; refreshment, C. E. Smith, chairman, Ed Starkey, R. J. White, C. F. Rathbone and H. G. Lyman; reception, Larry Griden, chairman, Jack Kahler, C. W. Rowland and Dr. Roy Horton; signs, C. W. Rowland and D. A. (Doc) Jones.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(Opinions and comment expressed in this column are not necessarily those of the Journal—Editor's note.)

Dr. U. G. Littell, president of club No. 3 of Santa Ana, will preside at the meeting held at 7:30 tonight in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street.

Formation of the club No. 1 meeting tonight in the Roosevelt school in the 300 block on East First street. The judge is a logical and forceful speaker on the Townsend plan.

Santa Ana club No. 9 is now meeting in the Edison school. A. Holloway announces that the club will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in a regular business session with a speaker. After the speaking program, pie and coffee will be served. The membership and others interested are urged to attend.

Herbert F. Kenny, 19th district Townsend board member was present at Santa Ana club No. 5 meeting held in the Richland Avenue Methodist church last Tuesday evening, and addressed the gathering on timely topics. A. A. Cox and wife, former secretary of this club were at home over the week-end, but left Monday for Banning.

The writer is in receipt of the following letter from James Ginniss, a member of the El Toro club who is nearing the age of 80 years: "I am writing to express my appreciation of the valiant support you are giving Dr. Townsend in the grave problems that confront him."

"Personal ambition in its malignant form has wrecked many good men and is also destructive of human happiness. It is a matter of regret that so many that we looked to for leadership in our great cause have been inoculated with this germ."

"But Dr. Townsend is a wonderful leader whose guiding star is that of human justice. Vituperation, calumny and physical suffering cannot turn him aside. He is worthy of the loyalty of all Townsendites, and the respect and good will of every good man and woman who has the welfare of the human race at heart. The Townsend plan will succeed. Yours in the cause."

El Don, the official publication of the Santa Ana Junior College Associated Students of date Feb. 12 carries the following editorial, which the writer considers worthy of being quoted:

"The American people have responded instantly and admirably to the plight of flood stricken south."

"The nation's press did its part in the Red Cross drive for funds. It told in terse, startling words the story of the rampaging Ohio and Mississippi rivers."

"America answered the 'S O S' call immediately. But—"

"Few realize that the flood is but a minor accident compared with the sorrow and suffering that is behind the scenes of our everyday life."

"Sickness, poverty, despair spread an unseen mantle of gloom over the country. We don't notice it because silent suffering isn't as dramatic and spectacular as a flood or Florida hurricane."

"The day-to-day misfortunes which take victims one by one are, in the end, more devastating than any flood."

"Yes, Americans are a charitable people. But they are more conscious of the stirring emergencies, too often forgetting the under-the-surface of daily calamities."

"It is encouraging to the Townsend movement to find the younger element of the social order giving voice to such sentiment."

REPORTS SEWER LINE BROKEN

Reporting that section two of the outfall sewer is badly in need of repair, as well as section one, concerning which there has been much controversy, Councilman C. D. Lester, joint outfall sewer commissioner, said at a meeting of the Orange city council yesterday that the city of Santa Ana is not concerned with the latest break, and that vitrified pipe will be used to repair the breach. The section is located about five miles from the first break, he added, and is more than 4000 feet long. About 200 yards of dirt has been washed into the break it was said. The cost to Orange would be about $6800 for the repair.

Lester was instructed to continue to vote for vitrified pipe to be used in repair of the section one, when the outfall sewer committee meets Wednesday evening at Anaheim. Santa Ana has insisted on concrete pipe for the repair job.

A 1935, V-8 truck of three tons capacity, to be used in street work, was ordered purchased for $475.

A plan to collect trash from homes in the city each week instead of twice a month, was approved. The holder of the garbage contract, J. Craig, offered the extra service, which will start March 1. Collections will be made each Wednesday north of Chapman avenue, and each Friday, south of Chapman avenue.

Boosting pump to cost $290 was bought for the water department on the recommendation of W. J. Richardson, water superintendent.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

REALLY, I must apologize for presenting another letter from Capt. J. M. Brown, Newport Beach, who's now cruising somewhere in the Gulf of California. I'm not apologizing for Capt. Brown's letters, but to you folks who read 'em and then want to go places so badly that you write mean letters to county editors.

With all my sympathy, here's the latest:

On board the Diesel yacht Veleiro II, Puerto Escondido, Baja, Calif., Mexico.

Dear Brick: Puerto Escondido, in case you're not up on your Spanish, means "Hidden Harbor" and boy, it is hidden. So far, it's one of the loveliest places I've ever seen. The place is hidden by a bold, rocky bluff, 500 feet high. The entrance is only about 75 feet wide and then there is a grand bay, about a mile wide and three miles long.

This bay abounds with all kinds of game fish. We caught 56 this morning—cabrios, roosters, fish, bonita, pompano, barracuda, dolphin and sheepshead—all fit for consumption.

There are several native families living around here. They come out of their dugouts, always bringing a few kids along, knowing the fondness of Americans for children. They start in picking up beer cans and things we throw overboard. Then we give 'em fish we have caught, candy, cigarettes, cookies, old clothes and in fact everything we can lay our hands on.

I hope it isn't too cold coming home, for I'm sure this gang won't have enough clothes to go ashore in, unless we land at a nudist colony. Already we've given away half our clothes and are only one-third along on our trip!

The mountains right in the rear of us here rise up to more than 6000 feet. They are rough and forbidding, rugged, hold and bare and all the colors of the rainbow. It reminds me of our own Grand canyon in some places. There is very little vegetation along the coastline, but over the ranges are some very fine, fertile valleys.

The natives along here are very poor, with little, miserable huts with dirt floors and a few goats and chickens. The more prosperous own some own dugouts, in which they come out to the ship, and that's about all their worldly possessions. The fellow with a donkey is a real plutocrat as he can ride along the beach and pick up whatever comes ashore!

I almost forgot to tell you about La Paz. We took the Pilot (that's what they call him) aboard Saturday morning and entered the winding and treacherous harbor up to the city, where we anchored right in front of the town proper. We found it was one grand fiesta, which would last for three days, so we prepared to stay and see the fun.

La Paz, approaching from the seaward, has all the lure and enchantment of a tropical setting, with its broad, sandy beach and overhanging coconut palms. The cathedral, with its two spires pointing heavenward, the call to vespers by church bells and the public plaza, surrounded by cantinas and private homes and the casino, make a never-to-be-forgotten picture.

For a few days, all in La Paz is very charming. Fortunately, we had our meals on board, as there are no eating places in La Paz worthy of the name. There is one old hotel, which is a place to sleep if you aren't too particular. The streets are lined with well-trimmed shade trees and, strange to say, the dogs look well-fed.

La Paz, as you must know, is the third largest pearl fishing port in the world. Here one finds pearl brokers a good deal like our diamond brokers in the States—they come out and spread their wares for you to take a choice, one or a dozen. Pearls aren't very cheap, even here where they dive for them. Of course, the pearl diver gets very little for his trouble—the sorter, broker and shipper make the prices go up.

Well, Brick, I see some fish jumping close to the ship. So, hurrying, I must close for this time and get my fish pole working to see what's making the disturbance in the water!

Anyone wishing to join an exploring party to go South and see what happened when Captain Bill dropped his line in the water should let me know at once. I'm leaving!

RETURNS FOR YEAR SHOW INCREASE

Gross Reports Shipment Of 1577 Cars During Past Season

ORANGE.—Announcing cash receipts of $1,883,253 for the past season, Secretary-manager R. E. Gross gave his annual report at a meeting of growers affiliated with the Santiago Orange Growers' association in the intermediate school here this morning.

Out of this sum, $171,135 went for supplies, and $226,845 was paid for labor, Gross said. Other expenses, as taxes and insurance, were not itemized. However, the records show that the average grower's return per packed box was greater than the previous season.

A total of 728,625 packed boxes and 1577 cars of fruit were handled. This divided into 51 cars of navel and 1526 cars of valencias. Fruit totaling 692,820 packed boxes were sold for fresh fruit purposes, and sales for juice and by-products were equivalent to 35,805 packed boxes.

Navel was only fair in appearance and quality, Gross said, and returns were not very satisfactory. Valencias were small, the average size 254 per box, compared with 231 per box in 1935.

It is impossible to estimate the damage from the freeze, and how much of the present crop is undamaged, the manager added.

About 30 per cent of the growers of the association have heaters, and these seem to have come through in very good shape, from casual examination, while orchards not heated in many cases will show a heavy loss, he added.

COURT'S TOPIC AT FORUM

Under "Legal Pitfalls Before the Average Family," Judge Tucker's subject dealt with grounds for divorce in this state; alimony, and the division of community property and the legal hazards involved in Nevada and Mexican divorces which, he pointed out, could be attacked on the grounds that no actual residence had been established.

MEDICAL CARE JUNIOR GROUP FORUM TOPIC MEETS AT G. G.

ANAHEIM.—Four out of 10 persons in California who need medical care are not getting it, and two out of three who need dental care are not getting it, Dr. Paul A. Dodd told his audience at meeting of Orange County public forum at Anaheim High school last night. Dr. Dodd's subject was "The Cost and Adequacy of Medical Care in California."

These figures, Dr. Dodd said, have been gathered through activities of a state commission which has made a study of the high costs of medical care. This study has revealed that while thousands of persons in low income groups do not receive the medical and dental care of which they are in need, many doctors and dentists are unemployed, and one-third of the doctors, one-half of the dentists, have incomes of less than $2000 yearly, he added.

THE PURPLE ARROW

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

(Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Frances Haven, American girl, has lived for eight years on a lonely little farm in Denmark with an elderly couple named Jillup. Her only close friend was a boy named Jack, who, she learned, was a young man, and she was determined to find him. When the Jillups tried to force her to marry their son, Joe, she fled. By chance, she meets a strange young man who seems to know something about her and who advises her to keep her head. When she tells the Jillups she is going to join her brother, they are trying to have him killed. During the past year, Joe Jillup has been in Bucharest, and in that time Jack had a series of accidents which might have been fatal. A young man named Arthur Slacks, who Jack calls Fran, that he is Joe Jillup's best friend.

CHAPTER X

Fran spent a restless night. Was it possible that the Jillups were already on her trail and that Slacks had come to investigate? On the other hand, Jack might have been mistaken—Slacks might really have come merely on business. Anyway, even if he was Joe's friend, he looked like a nice fellow.

However, Fran could not forget Jack's story, and his agitation and forebodings, and she wondered if she had jumped from the frying pan into the fire. Somehow, though, she clung to the thought of the Purple Arrow for comfort. She felt that he was her friend, in spite of what Jack had said.

In the days that followed, Jack's humor remained the same, and he was very nervous. Fran busied herself about the apartment, making it more livable and attractive. They had no visitors, however, and from a few remarks Jack made, Fran gathered that he lived very much on the fringe of society.

"You wouldn't like the people I know," he said once in excuse. "I don't like them myself, but a fellow's got to talk to somebody occasionally."

Another time, coming in tired and cross, he flung himself into a chair and, without preamble, said, "It's Joe Jillup's fault. There's a nice American colony here. I once was a part of it, but Joe fixed that."

Fran wondered, with a sigh, how much was Joe's fault, and how much the fault of her brother's lack of character. She clung rather desperately to her memory of him as a boy, a young man, and tried to bring him back to what he had been.

"It's no use," he flung at her once. "I'm done for."

He was beaten. She could see that, but she wouldn't admit it. The main thing seemed to be to rouse him from the obsession that Mr. Jillup was plotting his death. She fought hard to drive the thought from his mind, but she found it very difficult. It was deeply embedded there.

"Listen, Jack," she said, one evening. "Let's go out. Let's do something amusing."

"Drink and make merry, for tomorrow we die."

She went over to him and put an arm around his neck.

"Don't talk like that, Jack. Come on—let's go out and be gay. It will do you good."

After that, she managed to get him out several times. She was delighted to see that Jack reacted favorably. He seemed less morose.

Then, one evening, he came home from the office in what, for him, was a cheerful mood.

"How would you like to drive out into the country for dinner tonight?" he asked. "Art Slacks has loaned me his car."

"I think," said Fran, "that that would be grand!"

She was happy as they started off in Slacks' somewhat rickety old car. They were soon out in the open country. Fran pulled her coat around her, and smuggled a down in the seat. The car was a roadster, and the wind drove curly wisps of hair into her eyes.

"It's lovely," she said contentedly.

Jack did not answer but, glancing at him, she thought that his face looked less set. There was, she thought, a good chance for him yet, and relaxed in enjoyment of the drive.

They had a delicious dinner in the garden of a restaurant just off the road. The musicians came and played for them. Jack was quite gay. Altogether, Fran enjoyed it all immensely.

URGE BAY AS BASE FOR SCOUTS

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Establishment of Newport harbor as a Sea Scout base was being considered today by Sea Scout officials and civic leaders here.

Harbormaster T. E. Bouchey, skipper of the new Newport Harbor Sea Scout ship's company—and Mayor Harry Williamson, scout commissioner, were meeting to talk over the plan, it was understood. They expected to call together all Orange county Sea Scout officials for a conference on the project.

Enthusiastic supporter of the scheme is Don R. Heath, captain of the Riverside Sea Scout ship, who long has urged establishment of Newport harbor as area base for Sea Scout activities in this district, according to letters on file with Harry Welch, Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Riverside's boat has been moored at another port for the last two years, Heath said, but would be immediately moved to Newport bay if a base were established here, he declared.

THE PURPLE ARROW

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

(Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

At last they started homeward. Fran leaned back in the seat and looked up at the stars. It was a glorious night, she thought.

Jack, holding the wheel firmly, began to increase his speed. He liked the rush of wind in his ears, and the feeling of power. It had been a long time since he had had that feeling.

The suddenness of a car seemed to spring up in the road in front of the car. Jack jumped on the brakes and turned the steering wheel sharply, missing the car by inches, but the car, instead of coming straight again, plunged across the road and crashed headlong into a tree.

Fran was conscious of a sickening pain. Then, blackness.

She came to almost immediately. Her arm felt numb and, when she tried to move it, a stab of fire made her cry out. Then she forgot her arm. Jack was lying slumped in the driver's seat.

She shook him by the shoulder, and he groaned.

"This time they've got me," he gasped.

After that, he didn't speak again—nor move.

Later, days later, when it was all over, Arthur Slacks came to see Fran in the hospital. The doctor was just leaving, but he waited at a sign from Fran, who didn't want to be left alone with Slacks.

"It was the steering wheel," Slacks said. "It broke. I don't know what to say. If I can help."

He seemed sincerely distressed. Fran shook her head.

"Thanks," she said quietly. "There is nothing to do now."

The doctor looked at her kindly. "You have had a shock. When you leave the hospital, you must go to the country for a few weeks."

"Yes," said Fran.

She turned her head away. ePr-haps poor Jack had been right. She shuddered. At first, when he had told her about Jack, she had felt only a despairing loneliness. Now fear crept over her—cold fear.

BILL TO INSURE SUPPORT OF CHILDREN

Bill Provides Payments By State if Income Of Family Low

(Editor's note: This is the eighth of a series of articles on distinctive or unusual measures pending in the state legislature.)

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Protection of the children of the "under privileged" class, seeking to guarantee through the use of state funds that no child under the age of 16 years shall suffer for lack of food, clothing, shelter and education because of the lack of income of his parents, is before the legislature for action.

Introduced by Assemblyman Voight, Los Angeles, the measure, A. B. 932, would provide state aid for all children under the age of 16 whose parents' income did not exceed $50 a month for each parent plus $15 per month for each child of the family below the age limit.

Although designed to carry an appropriation of state money sufficient to bring the income of "needy homes" to the level, no sum is fixed by the bill.

Juvenile Gambling Administration of the relief would be left to the department of social welfare.

In S. B. 585, Senator Olson, Los Angeles, proposes a different brand of juvenile "aid." He would amend the juvenile court law by placing under the jurisdiction of the court any minor visiting a "public pool room" or place where liquor is sold "and purchases or drinks any such liquor" or "takes part in any gambling game or game of chance" or visits places where there are "vending or slot machines or other devices for gambling."

Determination of the right of custody of children, involved in divorce proceedings of the parents, excepting when the authority of another court would be in conflict, would be vested in the juvenile court, following investigation and hearing, if S. B. 584, also by Senator Olson, is passed by the legislature.

Changes Jurisdiction The measure proposes sweeping changes in the juvenile court law and would give the court jurisdiction in adoption and guardianship actions, as well. It provides that any court hearing a divorce action may direct that "the issue as to the custody of such minor shall be heard in the juvenile court."

The amendments proposed also provide that, should the judge of the juvenile court fail to "arbitrate" disputes over the custody of minors he shall "refer the same to the presiding judge" for trial. Another of Senator Olson's bills, S. B. 597, would reduce to one mile the limit within which a intoxicated person might be taken to the University of California at Berkeley and the Veterans Home at Yountville. The present limit is one and one-half miles. The bill also would exempt any country or golf club "holding not less than 100 acres of land" from provisions of the proposed act.

Vocational College Assemblyman Scudder, Sebastopol, would increase the scope of the California nautical school in his bill, A. B. 307, and increase the fee from $150 to $225. It also would permit registration of other than California youths on payment of a fee of $500. Senator Nielsen, Sacramento, in S. B. 88, proposes the establishment here of a California college of vocational arts to provide training for students in "vocational and technical training in aeronautics, mining engineering, mechanical and technical occupations, business and commerce, public service" and other phases of education as may be prescribed by the director of education.

Hitler Gives Up Church Control

BERLIN. (AP)—Full capitulation of Nazis to rebellious Protestant ministers was indicated today by Adolf Hitler's restoration of control to the Evangelical church electorate.

If the Hitler decree were carried out as interpreted by the Deutsches Nachrichtenbuero, the official German news bureau, it would mean the first major defeat for Hitler in his determination to bring all phases of life under totalitarian control of the Nazi party.

In the fact of a reported resurgence of opposition to dictatorship in church affairs—which already has caused ministers to suffer persecution—the Reichsfuehrer empowered Hans Kerl, Reichsminister for church affairs, "to prepare for an election of a general synod" to direct Evangelical church affairs.

Firemen Injured In Paducah Fire

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Four firemen were injured in a wall collapse when a spectacular fire Tuesday threatened the downtown district in this flood-battered city.

The injured men are: Wade Spires, Memphis; Walter Heck, Shelbyville, Ind.; Dale White and Clifton Pryor, both of Paducah. Flames gutted a large service station and garage and a restaurant and damaged another garage. The loss was not immediately determined.

Relics of Former Life Here

A wide variety of Indian articles dug up in Orange county by the WPA anthropological project supervised by John Winterbourne shown in this picture. Elizabeth Henderson, secretary of the project, is shown holding a stoneware ceremonial bowl, possibly used in initiation ceremonies for boys entering Indian tribes. The exhibit is in the foyer of the high school library.

Americans brought many ills to the Indians, but they didn't introduce the drug habit. That was already here. This was revealed today in an interview with John Winterbourne, supervisor of the anthropological project which has dug up many Indian remains in Orange county.

When boys were initiated into the tribes here, they were drugged. They dreamed, and whatever ceremonies predominated in their trances became their personal fetiches for life.

An exhibit of articles recovered by the local project, sponsored by the board of education, is on display in the high school library here. It contains a ceremonial bowl possibly used in these drug rites.

In the collection also is the largest owned group of cogstones known. These stones are still somewhat of a mystery and are found only in this locality. Samples of Indian foods, collected by John Romero, also a WPA project worker, and pencil sketches by Scilio Gonzales are included in the display in the library foyer.

W. W. Wieman, Lathrop Evening High School principal, is superintendent of the project.

Dynamiting of Glacier to Halt Advance 'Useless'

FAIRBANKS, Alaska. (AP)—Dynamiting of Black Rapids glacier to prevent its advance on a roadhouse and the Richardson highway would be as ineffective "as an attack by fireflies," Otto William Geist, scientist recording the glacier's movements for the University of Alaska, said today.

"There are not enough bombs or dynamite in America to even make an impression on the main body of the glacier," Dr. Geist said, "and if all of them were dropped at once, they would be as ineffective in destroying the colossal mass as an attack by fireflies."

The glacier continued its slow, steady movement down the Big Delta river valley, 125 miles south of here, threatening to dam the two-mile wide river, destroy a roadhouse, and gorge out the highway, interior Alaska's only highway outlet to the coast.

Scientists, however, said they believed the glacier would cease moving before it reached the roadhouse and motor for grinding. H. E. Revell, who had their belongings packed ready to move out on a moment's notice.

Today the glacier was slightly more than a mile from the house. It has moved between three and a half and five miles since early fall rains softened its bed.

Geist said the ice mass, 30 miles long and 3,000 feet thick, has moved over another glacier, probably a million years older than the Black Rapids sheet. The roadhouse shakes perceptibly when gigantic blocks of ice crash down from the 200-foot high face of the glacier.

WESTERN FILM 'SEA DEVILS' AT BROADWAY

Screened from a story written by the ace of action writers, Peter B. Kyne, "Code of the Range" will open Friday at the State theater for an engagement of two days.

The picture stars Charles Starrett, and the plot concerns a threatened war on the range when a sheepherder tries to invade the cattle country with his flock and the cattlemen arm to prevent it. Starrett, though a cattleman, is so strong for fair play that he takes the sheepmen's side, and thereby involves himself in plenty of adventures.

With him in the cast are Mary Blake, Edward Coken, Allan Caven, Albert J. Smith and others. Also on the bill are a Three-Stoges comedy, "Slippery Silks"; a Looney Tune cartoon, "Village Smithy"; chapter No. 3 of "Fighting Marines"; and a newsreel.

Lenten Meditations

During the Lenten period The Journal will publish daily the meditations suggested for reading and study by Protestant churches. One of the series follows: "Think on these things." Read Philippians 4:4-8.

"The Peace of God, which passeth all understanding." The words haunt, and even taunt, our imagination like some old, lost secret. It cannot be an accident that Saint Paul goes on from his mention of the peace of God to tell us what we are habitually to think about—things that are true-honest-just-pure-lovely-and of good report. The mind of the Christian, when free to follow its own bent, returns like the released pendulum to such subjects.

At the moment much of the best brain work of the modern world is being devoted to quite different subjects. Men's minds are hard at work on chemical warfare, gas masks, bombing planes. Surely nature, to say nothing of religion, has not traveled over into the field of bringing thoughts to birth for such ends. Such thinking is little short of a prostitution of the mind of man.

We need in the mental life of our day, not so much the matching of destructive wits with defensive skill, but rather what the old Scotch preacher Chalmers called "the expulsive power of a new affection."

Prayer: May the thoughts of our minds and the affections of our hearts be more acceptable unto thee, O God. Help us to think more constantly upon those things which belong unto our peace: through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

ROCKEFELLER IN UNITY PLEA

NEW YORK. (AP)—A plea of John D. Rockefeller, jr., for a "united Christian world" to "stem the rising tide of materialism, of selfishness, of shaken traditions, and crumbling moral standards" gave impetus today to a nationwide Methodist "million-unit fellowship movement," to obtain new members.

"The world today is staking its all on individualism—in men, in institutions and in nations," Rockefeller said last night in a broadcast to congregations of more than 20,000 Methodist churches.

"Christ lived and taught altruism," Rockefeller said. "... in the period of kaleidoscopic change, when even the foundations of morality and religion are being challenged. . . . It is a hopeful sign that many people are searching for a simple, fundamental religion as the way to peace, well-being and happiness."

"The church, with its sects, still clings to denominationalism, in which a drifting, disillusioned, discouraged world sees confusion rather than hope. Only a united Christian world can . . . point the way out."

"If we who call ourselves Christians could catch the vision from the mountain top, we would see that all roads meet. . . . That Christ stands waiting to see his followers irrespective of race or creed."

Mountain Snows Boost Water Supply

Snow depths and water content in the mountains of Southern California indicate above normal irrigation supplies.

This announcement was made today by the bureau of agricultural engineering at Washington, D. C.

The heavy snowfall in the mountains may be a fine thing for Orange county, if the snow doesn't melt too rapidly and send a flood of water down the Santa Ana river to inundate Orange county lands.

Snowfall in northern California was reported subnormal, but not to any alarming extent. Along the Sierra Nevada, the bureau said, reports show a deficiency at high elevations but abundant and considerably above average depths below the 6000-foot level.

Five Arrested On Bench Warrants

Arrested on bench warrants for offenses ranging from speeding to failure to pay fines, five persons were hauled into City Judge John Mitchell's court yesterday by Santa Ana police.

Romero Rodriguez, 606 North Daisy, and Joseph R. Sanchez, 1214 West Second street, were arrested on warrants charging drunkenness.

DOUBLE BILL AT WEST COAST

Two pictures, both depicting the lives of early Americans, come to the West Coast theater tonight.

Fred MacMurray and Claudette Colbert, romantic star of "The Gilded Lily" and "A Bride Comes Home," are teamed together in "Maid of Salem," romance of a Puritan maiden and a swash-buckling Virginian in the days of witchcraft.

In the second feature, "Daniel Boone," George O'Brien is seen in the title role. Hardships and perils of early settlers, the courage and determination they displayed in settling the country, are all brought to life in this historical film. Episodes in the life of Boone, as well as the costume and geographical settings of the period, are reproduced in striking and romantic detail.

Included in the cast are John Carradine, Dickie Jones, George Regas, Ralph Forbes and Clarence Muse.

A Popeye cartoon, "Organ Grinders Swing," and a World News are added attractions.

Missouri Girl Soon to End Job of Surveying European Cooperative Enterprises

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Emily C. Bates, slim 26-year-old Missourian, soon will complete her work as the lone woman member of President Roosevelt's commission for inquiry of cooperative enterprise abroad.

When she and her colleagues returned from a European survey, her trunks were filled with cooperation literature, not Paris frocks.

It was a worth while experience, according to Miss Bates.

Check All Types The commission, which investigated every type of cooperative from those dealing with farmers to citizens about economics and their intelligent comments on management policies.

One of the principal benefits of cooperatives she observed in Europe, Miss Bates said, was the increased knowledge of ordinary citizens about economics and their intelligent comments on management policies.

Miss Bates studied women's activities wherever she could, though her duties were the same as the four male commissioners.

Her Experience Born in Excelsior Springs, Mo., she moved with her lawyer father to North Kansas City after completing high school in 1929. She helped care for five younger brothers and sisters for a time,

Bill Provides For Flood Work

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A bill to authorize construction of reservoirs and principal flood channels in the Los Angeles and San Gabriel rivers and Ballona creek was pending in congress today.

Introduced by Representative John F. Dackweiler, Los Angeles Democrat, it limits construction costs to $70,000,000 and the cost of lands and damages to $50,000,000. Plans for the projects would be drawn by army engineers.

Dackweiler explained the bill would clarify language of the omnibus flood control act of 1936, which he said failed to include authorization for the Ballona creek section of the Los Angeles county flood control project.

Alberta Ranchers Facing Crisis

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (AP)—Snow-drifted highways brought southern Alberta ranchers their worst crisis in history today, as dead horses and cattle dotted the landscape.

Ranchers battled to bring feed and water to their starving herds. Snow piled high in the hills, preventing the animals from obtaining fodder. Most herds are subsisting on willow branches, brush and shrubs.

More than 40 days of sub-zero temperatures ended Monday. It was feared many small ranchers would be wiped out completely. Actual losses will not be known until the spring roundup.

INITIATE FIVE IN BETA GAMMA

Five Santa Ana Junior college students were formally initiated into Beta Gamma, extra-curricular honor society, last night at the home of Frances Was, 617 Orange avenue.

Each year the society votes its members who have been outstanding in extra-curricular activities on the campus. John Ramirez is president, while Frances Was is secretary-treasurer.

Those initiated into the organization were Bob Swanson, editor of El Don; Tay Riggs, editor of Del Anjo; Neil McDaniel, Associated Student president; Jean Mulbar, president of Y. W. C. A., and Helena Bailey, former president of Las Meninas, women's service club.

The club decided to offer its annual prize of $25 to the student most outstanding in extra-curricular activities at graduation time. Ramirez also said the organization contributed $10 to the student loan fund.

SCHOOLS WIN IN TAX BATTLE

School districts which clashed bitterly with the board of supervisors last summer over disposition of $47,276.95 in delinquent taxes, enjoyed a quiet victory today.

On advice of District Attorney W. F. Menton and Auditor W. T. Lambert, the board of supervisors has rescinded its order of June 9, 1936, depositing the money in the county general fund, and ordered it distributed to the school districts.

The funds were collected in the fiscal year of 1933-34 on delinquencies of prior years, during the period in which the county levied a general school rate to be apportioned to schools.

Since that time the rate has been abolished, and the state provides the funds from the sales tax, awarded on a basis of average daily attendance.

Allocation of the funds, of which Fullerton schools are said to claim the major share, will be in the hands of Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, the auditor's office said.

HUGE VOLUME SHIPPED IN DECEMBER

Average Return Within
14 Per Cent of That
For November

Calavo avocado growers so far have received $166,315.62 in returns for the last three months of 1936.

Despite the fact that the December marketing pool contained almost twice as much fruit, the general average return was within 14 per cent of that of November, it was announced.

A total of 92,550 packed flats was handled in December, or more than was moved in October and November combined.

Normal Harvesting
Normal avocado harvesting is expected to start shortly now that the huge volume of good fruit on frost-free stems has been rushed from groves, it was announced today by Manager George B. Hodgkin of the Calavo Growers.

Markets, however, will be more than normally supplied from the present stocks for some time, he said. During the past three weeks about 1,700,000 pounds of fruit have been handled by the grower organization's two plants, which have been working day and night to help growers save their good fruit.

Big Volume Handled
This is the next largest three weeks volume ever harvested or handled, it was announced. During the first week in February more fruit was handled than during all of that month a year ago.

Through grower cooperation in coordinating picking, the huge harvest of recent weeks was handled quickly and without difficulty, the Calavo executive said. Seed and oil by-product activity is progressing on unmarketable fruit. A volume of both seed for nursery use and oil for cosmetics and other lines now is available.

Former Santa Ananne Returns to Parents' Marriage Place for Her Wedding

Ceremony In Episcopal Church

Bride Granddaughter Of Pioneer Santa Ana Families

Sentiment attached to earlier weddings lived again in the lovely nuptial ceremony at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, in which Miss Florence Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest John Stanley of 2317 Fair Park avenue, Los Angeles, became the bride of Clifford H. Hannah, of Long Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hannah of Santa Ana.

In this same church, in September, 1910, the bride's mother and father were united in marriage, and yesterday's bride carried a prayer book which the former had carried at her own wedding. Another "something old" in the bridal costume was a lace handkerchief which Miss Stanley's mother had made for the former's aunt, Mrs. J. W. Crawford, who was also married in this same church.

The bride's beautiful gown was of lace over ivory satin, with a fingertip length veil, and from her prayer book fell a shower of Finch roses. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended in the impressive ceremony by Miss Martha Stanley, as maid of honor, and by two sisters of the bridegroom, the Misses Constance and Phyllis Hannah, as bridesmaids.

Attendants in Taffeta
Miss Stanley was in seafair taffeta with a matching lace jacket and the other two in peach and turquoise taffeta, all carrying little French bouquets.

Frederick W. Dangers of Long Beach was the best man, and two cousins of the bride, John Lacy Taylor and Franklin Van Meter, were the ushers.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. William J. Hatter, rector of the church, against a background of palms and ferns, the light of tall tapers adding dignity and charm to the setting. Horace Y. Evans, Jr., and Frederick Evans fulfilled the duty of lighting the candles before the service.

Reception Follows

One hundred and fifty friends gathered for the wedding and later congratulated the couple in a reception in the parish rooms of the church, where Mrs. A. H. Taylor, the bride's aunt, was in charge of hostess duties. She was assisted by cousins of the bride and a sister of the bridegroom. Another aunt, Mrs. Crawford, assisted by the cousins, had decorated the church and reception rooms for the occasion.

Changing later to a suit of hunters' green with London tan accessories, the bride departed with her new husband for a honeymoon which will take them to Long Beach to make their home, the bridegroom being in business there.

The new Mrs. Hannah is a graduate of Tustin High school and Santa Ana Junior college and of Occidental college, affiliating with Las Meninas here and with Alpha sorority on the Occidental campus. Her father is a mining engineer, and the family have spent much time in Mexico where he has been connected with that work. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor and Mrs. Charles H. Stanley, pioneer residents of Santa Ana, which was her home town for several years. For a short time since finishing college, she has been teaching in the local schools.

Parties here and in Pasadena have honored the bride during the weeks before the wedding, one of the loveliest being a crystal shower given by Mrs. John L. Taylor, Mrs. Franklin Van Meter and Miss Katherine Stein at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Stein in Bellflower. The party was in the nature of a buffet supper, carrying out the St. Valentine theme, and was a surprise for both Miss Stanley and Mr. Hannah.

On Feb. 4, Mrs. Irwin C. McBride of South Pasadena entertained at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. McBride, who had been a close family friend in Guanajuato, Mexico, had as guests a group of old-time friends, five of whom had known the Stanleys in Mexico, and others members of Mrs. Stanley's bridge club.

A kitchen shower was planned for the bride-to-be on Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. A. C. Arnall in San Marino, given by Miss Kathleen Arnall, a sorority sister. Guests were Alpha sorority members from Occidental, and after a pretty luncheon they hemmed tea towels for the new home. Mrs. Arnall was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. L. E. Packer.

It Costs Money to Dress Duchess for Coronation

(Editor's Note: This is one of two articles on coronation clothes which has been prepared by the Associated Press. The second, to be published tomorrow in The Journal, will take up the subject of colors and materials for both men and women.)

LONDON. (AP)—If you were a duke invited to attend the coronation of King George VI in Westminster Abbey, you'd have to write out a check for approximately $612 for clothes alone. And your wife's bills would be more than double that.

Thousands of pounds will be represented in the crimson and purple robes and glittering coronets which the blue-blooded of Britain will wear when they see their monarch crowned.

Prices for robes and uniforms vary widely according to the quality of the materials used, but there are only slight differences in the cost of the trimmings distinguishing various ranks.

A duke or a marquess, for example, pays only slightly more than one dollar above the price charged for an earl or a viscount; the earl or viscount nearly three dollars more than a baron.

Coronets differ more widely in price according to the amount of decorations they bear. Here dukes and barons come off best. Their headgear is simpler, and therefore cheaper—than that worn by an earl, a marquess or a viscount. In fact, a duke can secure a cheap line in coronets for $95, while an earl must pay at least $10 more.

The lowest rank of peeress, the baroness, must set aside at least $500 for the clothes she will need for the Abbey ceremony. The viscountess, countess, marchioness and duchess—each will pay more as the degree of rank goes higher—the duchess' bills probably totaling more than $2000.

And the gowns and robes bought with this money can be worn only once or twice in a lifetime.

G. J. CHAPTER
WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Next month's meeting of Chapter GJ of the P. E. O. sisterhood will not have a formal program, but will feature election of officers for the coming year, it was decided when the group was entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. A. Moore, 1208 North Van Ness street.

After a delicious luncheon the members were entertained by Mrs. John Webster of Costa Mesa, who presented a program on "Hobbies." At a previous meeting she had made a list of each member's hobby, and had classified them all very cleverly in rhyme.

Mrs. Sidney Davidson of Costa Mesa will entertain the club on March 15.

HERMOSA ENJOYS CARD PARTY

After a business meeting of Hermosa chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Monday evening, members enjoyed a card party at which both auction and contract bridge were played.

Attractive prizes were awarded to Mrs. May Lucke and Will McConnell, high at contract, and to Mrs. Ada Henery and Roy Seaver, high at auction. Mrs. Anna Kester, Victor Soper, Mrs. Freda Birkhead, and J. H. French were holders of low score, and were suitably consoled.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall which was decorated in patriotic fashion with little flags, miniature hatchets, and red, white and blue bunting.

At the brief meeting earlier in the evening, conducted by Elizabeth Lewis and Harold Nelson, worthy matron and worthy patron, escort honors were given to Anna

MARY STODDARD Sally Finds Solution To Her Problem in Nature's Beauty and Simplicity

By MARY STODDARD

And so a young girl's fancy is going to turn to Mother Nature—to flower gardens, birds, mountains, lakes, and joy. She's going to give up her unhappy and ill-fated love for a married man, and by pursuing everything that's beautiful and good, do her best to create a new life for herself. I was very happy to receive Sally's letter this morning, and I know all those of you who wrote her so thoughtfully and sincerely will be too. I imagine that the going will be a little difficult for Sally when the first exalted bloom of her resolution fades, but I trust that when the simple life begins to pall, she will remember the kind advice she has received from so many people, and once again be strengthened in her determination.

Here is her letter today:
Dear Miss Stoddard: May I offer my deepest thanks to you and all of your readers for your splendid advice which I can proudly say I not only accepted but followed.

Since I wrote to you several weeks ago, I have seen "Jim" but once. We did not go out dancing in an evening of fun. No, we talked for two hours sensibly.

I asked him to promise me he would not come "up or over" to try to see me again. So far that promise has not been broken, and I know it shall not be.

In years to come, if he and his wife should definitely decide that their marriage together simply cannot bring them happiness, and Jim is free to come to me and still feels the same toward me, I know he will find the same "Sally" waiting for him. And if in that time we should both discover that we have made a mistake, I can thank God that I stepped out of the picture before I wrecked a happy home and my own life as well.

In a letter written you by a nurse describing the young girl who had so needily needed her life by a shattered love affair with a married man there was something that touched my heart. I say "needlessly," because that girl had failed to find the "other beautiful things" for which life is worth living besides love. It reminded me of a little poem by Francis W. Courton, the last lines of which go like this:

"Yet the light of a whole life dies when love is done."
Perhaps the main light dies, but there are little candles all along the way that keep on burning. I can almost see the labels on those candles. One reads "Nature," the flowers that come in the spring, the birds that wake you with their songs on hot summer mornings, apple trees in bloom and after that the fruit, those fluffy little balls of fur with a proud mother cat watching as they bark in the sun. Another label reads "Fine Arts," music, poems, painting—the strains of "The Blue Danube," the works of Kipling and Noyes and the works of fine old masters like Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa."

I have so many things planned to keep me busy. There are the flower and vegetable gardens to be planted and cared for. During the summer there will be picnics at the lake, camping trips in the mountains and parties. Then in the fall there will be fruit to be gathered, canning to be done for the long winter months ahead.

There is a saying by the author, George Eliot, that goes like this: "What do we live for if it is not to make life less difficult for each other?"
I think that is something we should all try to do. It gives you

Patriotic Theme at Luncheon

Mrs. L. R. Wilson chose a patriotic motif yesterday when she entertained her contract bridge club at a 1 o'clock dessert bridge in her home on East First street, Tustin.

Centering the one table, at which she marked places for the members and guests, was a three-branch crystal candelabra with red, white and blue tapers; and down the length of the table on either side of the centerpiece were silk flags in red, white, and blue flower pots. Refreshments were also in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. Lynn Ostrander won the high prize of the afternoon, and other members of the club present were the Mesdames Guy Dowds, H. G. Wilson, Sydney Russell, and Nancy Dale. Two guests, Mrs. Gilbert Martien and Mrs. H. L. Boyer, substituted for Mrs. B. J. McReynolds and Mrs. Guy Darnell.

CHINESE THEME AT LUNCHEON

Chinese food, Chinese decorations, and even Chinese prizes characterized a luncheon meeting of Harmony Bridge club Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Mildred Snyder and Mrs. Carrie Cole were hostesses.

Chow mein and rice-cakes were among the delicacies served at tables prettily decorated with pale pink and white peach blossoms. Prizes of Chinese trays were given for high score at auction and contract. Mrs. Florence Wright and Mrs. Augusta Whisenand, while little laquer boxes for low at both games were given to Mrs. Juanita Cozad and Mrs. Pearl Lyan.

Mrs. Lillian Dawson and Mrs. Effie Neuschwanger will be hostesses to the group at a 12:30 luncheon March 2 at the Rossmore cafe.

Those present yesterday were the Mesdames Lillian Dawson, Amanda Holmes, Stella Maude Ryan, Maude Swarthout, Jennie Shippe, Estella McFaren, Florence Wright, Jane Morse, Betty Gowdy, Mildred Snyder, Virgie Holmes, Juanita Cozad, Rose Chast, Ethel Christian, Clara Belle Rousseau, Pearl Lyan and Augusta Whisenand.

A certain satisfaction in living. I suppose some people will think I have reformed. No, I haven't reformed. I am the same "Sally," except that my heart is lighter. Yes, I knew the answer to my problem before I wrote you, but I didn't have the courage to face the facts. It is like a person learning to skate. They have to be instructed and urged on before they really have the courage to try.

If ever a person should write you with a problem to which I might be able to offer some advice, I would like to contribute my bit in an effort to help them. I want to thank you again, and Grace A. for her lovely letters. The Nurse who took some of her precious time to write, and all the countless others who so graciously gave their advice and help. Sincerely, "SALLY."

L. A. SLAYING DRAMATIZED OVER KVOE

'Murder at 3 a. m.' Title
Of Tonight's Crime
Story at 8 p. m.

"Help! Robbery! They've shot my wife!"

These hysterical shouts and the apparently distraught man who voiced them halted a duck-hunting expedition of four men on the Roosevelt highway near Tropic Canyon, one child November day before dawn.

They, and subsequently the officers, hear Johnny Bolton's story of how he and his wife were halted by highwaymen, robbed, and shot. Mrs. Bolton was fatally wounded; her husband suffered a shoulder wound from which he recovered.

Such is the setting of "Murder at 3 o'clock in the morning," the "Calling All Cars" drama to be broadcast by KVOE and other stations of the Don Lee Broadcasting system from 8:00 to 8:20 tonight.

Whether Bolton's story was true or false, and what happened to the convicted murderer is dramatically told in this excellently produced play, based upon facts drawn from the records of the Los Angeles sheriff's office.

'Modulations From KVOE'

To be presented 15 minutes later than usual, O. R. Haan's program of dance music as interpreted in the Sterling Young manner will be heard on KVOE tonight at 8:45. Harold Fogle of the Haan organization will announce the program. The change in time is for tonight only.

CHAPEL VOICES

Listeners who have no liking for the hi-de-ho type of male quartets but prefer the harmonies of well-blended male voices, singing familiar songs in an understandable manner, will welcome this program by the "Chapel Voices," broadcast by KVOE and other stations of the Don Lee Broadcasting system from 11:30 to 11:45 tomorrow morning.

HOLLYWOOD WHISPERS

What he thinks of two recent pictures, "Love Is Now" and "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," will be told by George Fischer in his "Hollywood Whispers" broadcast, heard on Mondays and Thursdays at the same hour on KVOE tonight at 7 o'clock. Another feature will be a biographical sketch of Simone Simone, with autographed photographs of the diminutive French star going to the first 10 listeners writing to ask for the same.

WORLD AFFAIRS

Completely recovered from the severe cold which forced him to survey current events from a horizontal position, for a time, Dr. Adamantinos Polyzoides will again present his popular "World Affairs" broadcast at 7:15 tonight.

GUY LOMBARDO

Members of all the "Guy Lombardo Clubs" in these parts will either be listening or cursing their luck for not being able to do so, when their favorite orchestra broadcasts from KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system from 5:45 to 6 o'clock this evening.

CAFÉ ROBBERED

LOS ANGELES. (AP) Unobserved by a throng of diners, two shabbily dressed men robbed the cashier of Willard's café of $150 last night.

Bad Table Manners
Hold You Back

"Why am I always stuck with such ill-bred people?" wonder Prue, Dora and Jack. Better think less about others' errors, you three; find out your own!

Don't plunge after your falling spoon, retriever-fashion, Jack, unless it's in some one's way. Wait for a fresh one.

Don't, Dora—unless you want always to be known as a One-Date Girl—pile food on your fork, put it down with your knife. Use a knife for cutting only; take food with your fork, a little at a time.

If you want to belong, Prue, don't smack your saltcellar over your hostess' well-seasoned food. Season so inconspicuously that no one thinks you're criticizing your fare.

Avoid telltale blunders, learn the fine points of table manners from our 32-page booklet. Etiquette of informal and formal dinners, restaurants, clubs, dining-cars. Be at ease in any circle.

Send 10c for your copy of Good Table Manners to Santa Ana Journal Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

PATTERN 5787
If you're looking for something in a scrap quilt and one that's easy to piece, choose Garden of Friendship. Gay patches make the flowers; more subdued or darker ones, the flower pots. You can see at a glance how easily the 8-inch block would go together. In olden times, friends contributed scraps to such a quilt as this, giving it its name, Garden of Friendship. In pattern 5787 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration of the finished block in actual size, showing contrasting fabrics; accurately drawn pattern pieces; an illustration for the entire quilt; three color schemes; step-by-step directions for making the quilt, and exact yardage requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and Pattern Number.

Parking Meters for Santa Ana

WHEN the parking meter proposal was made here several months ago by the city council, we suggested that it be tabled until Santa Ana could see how the meters worked in Long Beach.

If successful in Long Beach, it stood to reason that they might be successful here also.

Here is what City Manager Randall M. Dorton of Long Beach writes in this month's issue of Western City regarding the meters:

"In the improved parking conditions by accelerating curb turnover, enabling a larger number of motorists to use available space in metered area. Virtually eliminated double parking. Drove 'parking bogs' from congested area.

More than 100,000 motorists used the meter plan. 70,000 actually paid for the privilege and 30,000 others parked without cost by using the unexpired time of previous occupants of metered space.

Chamber of commerce survey embracing mercantile, industrial and professional enterprises, showed 81.4 per cent of all replied favored meters; 15.2 per cent opposed them, and 3.4 per cent were non-committal.

Other surveys showed an 80 per cent approval among Long Beach motorists and a 90 per cent approval among out-of-town shoppers.

In view of the apparent success of the Long Beach installation, we recommend that the council reopen the question and make a thorough study of the meter plan with relation to its uses and possible advantages for Santa Ana.

We used to figure rainfall in hundredths of an inch. Now if we don't receive a four-inch downpour over the week-end, we call it unusual.

Other Supreme Court Plans

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT's plan to pack the supreme court with New Dealers seems to have left a dark brown taste in the mouth of the American people. Yet many citizens sincerely believe that some steps should be taken to bring about a greater harmony between the court and the prevailing social and economic trends.

Many alternative plans are being offered—most of them based, of course, on the fact that the constitution does not specifically give the court the right to nullify legislation.

Among these proposals are a plan to limit the tenure of the justices, a plan to allow congress to override a judicial veto like it can the presidential veto, a plan to require a 6 to 3 majority on each decision, a plan to suppress the minority report and restrict the finding to the majority opinion as if it were unanimous, and others.

These suggestions should not be howled down without a hearing. They should get from congress and the people sane and careful study.

Our government is the best in the world; but it is not perfect. All suggestions for improvement should be carefully considered, with intelligent progress and public welfare constantly in mind.

There's no truth to the rumor that the supreme court justices plan a sit-down strike.

A Job for a Unified County

NORTH Orange county is wise in its insistence on localized flood protection along Carbon, Coyote, Brea and Fullerton creeks. Its back door should be protected.

Santa Ana and Orange did this very thing on Santiago creek, through a dam conceived and built through private foresight and enterprise.

But while we close the back door against floods, let's not forget that the front door—the Santa Ana river—is still inadequately guarded; and that the Santa Ana river menaces both the north and south sections of the county alike.

The Orange county flood control and water conservation plan—upon which the people of this county soon may vote—protects both the front and back doors; since it places curbs on the northern creeks, too. It is such a big project that the unified efforts and resources of the whole county will be needed to swing it.

Let's stick together and put over the big program that will end the flood worries of all sections.

When winter comes, can colds be far behind?

Don't Become a 'Softie'

DO YOU WORRY for fear you are dissipating your energy and weakening your constitution when some sudden emergency or combination of circumstances forces you to go without sleep or food?

Don't do it, advises Alexis Carrel, famous surgeon and scientist.

It's good for you to tax your energies once in a while, so that you don't lose or weaken the human organism's tremendous capacity for adaption to sudden and violent extremes, he writes in his book "Man the Unknown." And this capacity has been the chief factor in man's progress from a wilderness animal to his present status, he adds.

In other words, it is possible to go too far in making things too easy and free from strain and effort. So don't worry about an occasional hardship. It keeps you from becoming a "softie."

Suicide or a Good Fight?

THIS is a curious quirk of the mind which causes some Japanese to commit hara-kiri in protest against activities or institutions which they dislike. Eight members of a suicide sect have just thrown Tokyo into an uproar over their attempts at self-destruction.

No doubt the object lesson of such self-sacrifice makes a powerful impression upon those toward whom it is pointed.

But would it not be more effective to stay alive and put up a good two-fisted fight on behalf of the cause to which you are loyal?

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Europeans in the metropolis to see the sights invariably ask to see the Savoy dance hall in deep Harlem. And, of course, "Stamping at the Savoy" has become a part of the routine of every radio swing program.

The Savoy is a black and white resort with a patina of respectability.

No hard liquor is served and it has never had a cutting scrape. It is an outlet for the negro frenzy for barbitate dancing. Porters, maids, cooks, elevator boys as well as "diets"—high tone folk—let themselves go in squirms, strangle holds and public necking.

There are some venturesome whites who indulge the epileptic seizures of the Lindy Hop, the favorite dance, with the dusky hostesses, but mostly the dancers are colored, eye-rolling black bucks and sepiu girls. The hall occupies a full block on Lenox at 142d street.

Modern in lighting and decor, the music is hot and continuous. Its clientele attains a half million total yearly and the gross is $275,000. The owners are white and the place has had uninterrupted success since 1926. Although other night life in Harlem is in partial eclipse.

Mrs. Winfield Sheehan, the former Marie Jeritza of opera fame, has touched off an Austrian schloss vogue in the neighborhood of her husband's estate in Hidden valley, near Los Angeles. Mrs. Sheehan acted as her own architect and contractor, appearing on the lot to superintend construction.

Two new and goofy night club owners are keeping the cafe stay-outs up a bit longer. They are Jack White and Henry Youngman, cowering in two of the less pretentious pudding houses. White's flurry of nuttiness is like this. Mrs. Jack Whitney, Helen Willis and a social handsome center. White glances at them and observes: "I'll make it a foursome after the show." Youngman also cracks over the seat holders. Seeing Jimmy Durante and Ray Bolger at a table he observes: "There they are talking—beak to beak."

For many years the biggest of the uptown dope depots was in Columbus Circle after midnight. Here the overloads met their peddlers and distributed their supplies. But narcotic squad vigilance finally broke that up. I am told distribution is now in the public parks, notably Central. A distributor sauntering down a lonely path tosses a packet in some bush or tully. He waits until he hears a pre-arranged whistle and knows the packet has been retrieved.

And whistling is reminding it has become a vanished art along New York streets. A psychologist declares it's an enervationism due to a depression and one not as yet recaptured. It used to be residential streets were lively in the early morning with the shrill of whistlers and there were clatter chirrupings among arrivals to open shops, sweep the sidewalks, wash the windows and polish the signs. The push boys who raced their go-devil carts through the garment district were celebrated for whistling. But a ride through the district shows the whistlers stilled there, too.

At last Madison avenue is to have a perfume shop in black and silver that will handle scents for men only. There are now more than 100 varieties of aromas designed to appeal only to the masculine smell. Jack Dempsey and even Jimmy Durante like a dash of perfume on their kerchiefs.

Thingumbobs: Elsie DeWolfe spends three hours dressing for a dinner party. The Bowery has a Royal Highness lunch room. John D. Rockefeller is a white bean soup. Bob Davis can bake a chocolate cake that will knock your palate for a loop. Anthony Eden has never been in a night club or seen a musical revue. Ernest Simpson has become one of London's hermits. Charlie Chaplin finds sleep impossible before 3 a. m.

Thought for an evening out: What this country needs is more places where people off duty, may revel in music and light refreshments at less cost. There cannot be 100 per cent enjoyment where the customer is constantly thinking of the check.

"She don't have to tear up all her letters on my account."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — Private reaction of the liberal justices of the supreme court to the President's proposal is interesting and varied.

Justice Cardozo, who has supported most of Roosevelt's legislation, feels sad and humiliated that a situation ever could have developed by which the supreme court would cause such discussion and bring such criticism upon its head. Cardozo is not vigorously for or against the Roosevelt proposals.

Justice Brandeis' reaction is somewhat similar. He believes the blame for the present impasse is largely the court's but he hates to see the President take this method to remedy the impasse. Justice Stone, the most forthright liberal on the bench, is pleased and openly defiant. He thinks the present discussion is very healthy for any democratic form of government.

WRONG LAW

Congressman Sam Pettengill, of South Bend, Ind., prides himself on being a graduate of Yale law school, and recently wrote to Charles E. Clark, dean of the Yale law school, asking his opinion of the President's supreme court proposal.

Pettengill, although a Democrat, is a bitter opponent of the Presidential move and wanted to get some ammunition, bearing a Yale trademark, with which to knock the proposal.

But imagine his embarrassment when Dean Clark wrote an enthusiastic letter supporting the Roosevelt plan.

Pettengill has not been showing off the letter.

DIPLOMATIC DEAL

Cordell Hull is reshuffling his ambassadors and dealing out a new hand all around. He has had a long list of new appointments waiting for White House approval, but so far hasn't been able to see the President.

Roosevelt has been too busy seeing senators about the supreme court. However, here is how the new deal for diplomats tentatively works out:

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, jr., ex-tennis star, donor of $90,000 to the Democratic campaign fund, now minister to Norway, will be promoted to be ambassador to Poland. Even Biddle's career critics now admit he has done a good job in Norway. John Cudahy, socialite meat-packer, contributed to the campaign fund, now ambassador to Poland, expects to retire.

Spruille Braden, son of the copper king, now doing an excellent job in the Chaco peace negotiations as "special ambassador," will become ambassador to Cuba.

Dictator Batista, will become ambassador to Brazil.

Hugh Gibson, suave friend of Mr. Hoover's, expects to be transferred from Brazil to Belgium, his wife's native land, where he once served before. Dave Hennen Morris, Belgian incumbent, wants to retire.

Laurence A. Steinhardt, nephew of Sam Untermyer and now minister to Sweden, will probably go to Chile as ambassador, replacing Hoffman Philip, who has reached retirement age.

Theodore A. Walters, now assistant secretary of the interior and none too popular with Ickes, will get the remote honor of being minister to Paraguay.

To become minister of Costa Rica, Secretary Hull has selected one of his old newspaper friends from his native state of Tennessee—John Erwin, Washington correspondent of The Nashville Tennessean. John is a good newspaperman, but more important, is an unofficial brain trust of the secretary of state.

Unless the President blue-pencils the above list, these will be the boys who rule on pink peppermints, protocol, and peace or war during the crucial years immediately ahead.

Note—Roosevelt will probably sit tight on all diplomatic appointments until after the smoke of the supreme court battle clears. Political plumas constitute the only club he can wield over certain obstinate senators.

FRATERNAL LUCK

If it were not for the fact that Emil Hurja, statistical wizard of the Democratic national committee, was an ardent member of his college fraternity, Kappa Sigma, he would have been driven in the airplane that crashed in San Francisco bay the other day.

Hurja was in Los Angeles, had purchased a ticket in the plane which crashed, when he met Allan G. Ritter, a high officer in the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Ritter persuaded him to stay over, take the night train to San Francisco. Hurja turned in his airplane ticket and remained.

That evening all passengers in the plane were drowned.

AIR MYSTERY

Air experts here already have worked out a private explanation of the San Francisco bay tragedy. They say there is nothing mysterious about the crash, that it was caused solely by the fact that the pilot, although one of the best on the line, had spent years flying a Boeing plane, was not thoroughly familiar with the Douglas in which he crashed. United Airlines had just put a fleet of luxurious Douglas into service.

The Douglas has a flap which is lowered in order to cut the plane's speed while landing. This is a new invention, permitting the plane to land on a much smaller field.

It is believed that Pilot Thompson overshot his mark, went a little beyond the airport, therefore started in a large circle in order to come down again.

To do this he pulled in the plane's wheels, also the flap. Whenever the flap is pulled in, the cushion of supporting air under the plane is lessened, causing the plane to drop 20 or 30 feet.

By this time the giant 21-passenger Douglas was out over the bay. Distance over water always is hard to calculate, even for the most experienced navy flier.

What Other Editors Say

SAFETY FIRST

(American Guardian)

It's safer to steal a railroad than a coupling pin.

It's safer to poison thousands with adulterated food than poison a rich lady's pup.

It's safer to starve a million poor children than kidnap a millionaire's child.

It's safer to rob 10,000 banks from the inside than to rob one bank from the outside.

It's safer to gamble with the food of the nation than shoot craps in a back alley.

It's safer to throw ten million honest workers out of factories than picket a factory to keep 10 scabs out.

It's safer to steal an oil field than break into a filling station.

It's safer to buy a whole government than to buy the cop on the beat.

It's safer for an heiress to marry 10 men for the fun of it than for a street-walker to solicit one man for something to eat.

Outside of that, we're all equal in the eye of the law.

WHAT KEEPS THEM GOING

(Riverside Enterprise)

A gambling club in a midwestern city is being sued by a widow who was embittered by the fact that its manager would not give her a dollar for food after she had lost almost $10,000 at the club's gaming tables.

Interviewed by a reporter, the widow said, "It's a shame that such places should be allowed to run in defiance of the police."

There is, of course, something in her protests, and the city's law authorities undoubtedly are at fault in permitting the place to stay open.

But if there were not so many people like this woman, who swarm to such clubs to lose large amounts of money they can ill afford, the joints soon would go into receivership.

After much time spent in the endeavor to frame a franchise which would safeguard the city's interests and at the same time be acceptable to the other side, a mutually satisfactory agreement was arrived at last evening at a conference between the city trustees and representatives of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, under the terms of which a telephone franchise will be offered for sale at the next meeting of the city council.

Rosario Sainz, convicted last June of the murder of Jose Machado near Sunset Beach and sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin prison, has another lease of life. The state supreme court has reversed the ruling of Judge West. Freed once after his arrest by a blunder on the part of some officials in the lower part of the state, freed again after an interval of a year by a cleverly planned and carried out jail break, and taking advantage of both intervals to commit crimes, Sainz has proven one of the most spectacular figures in the crime history of Orange county. Probably he will have another trial.

Huntington Beach has again been selected as the place for the annual encampment of the Southern California Veterans association.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER

This was written by a man in prison. Sometime, somehow, I'll make things right with him for thus appropriating his piece. It's worth printing and worth reading.

"Did you ever watch a man go free? There is no happier sight in prison than this, nor is there one hurts deeper than the utter defeat in the eyes of those who come back.

"We were there when he came back. Oldtimers nodded stoically. When he marched in on the chain his head hung and he squinted out of weak eyes, avoiding ours, knowing we would ignore him. He had broken the code and we were through. Through! Others would be hurt by his failure. He knew. We knew. It would be hard for him.

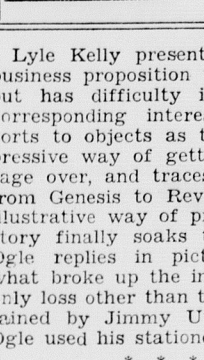

"Yet we, condemning without considering or caring what tripped him, what circumstances might have made petty crime seem the only thing he knew, yet not well enough not to get caught, were perhaps lower than he. Was crime his heritage—or was heritage his crime? He had done wrong, but did he care? If not, why? Was he not perhaps the shameful effect of some insidious cause rooted in society's own back yard?

"When he slunk away to quarantine he looked up and there was something in his eyes that shamed us—something that made us feel that we, also condemned, were partly responsible—for we had not always been where 'no sight hurts deeper.'"

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Lyle Kelly presents a serious business proposition to Joel Ogle, but has difficulty in getting a corresponding interest. Lyle resorts to objects as the most impressive way of setting his message over, and traces his scheme from Genesis to Revelation. The illustrative way of presenting the story finally soaks through, and Ogle replies in pictures. That's what broke up the interview. The only loss other than time was sustained by Jimmy Utt. Lyle and Ogle used his stationery.

Sent John Lamb check for last half of taxes on the ranch. Payment was made purely on the basis of faith. Now I'm going out to see if the ranch is still there. Brick Gaines keeps coming in and reporting it in the past tense, and I'm getting uneasy.

The weather has detoured a charter meeting of the Capistrano Rotary club, set for next Friday evening. Capistrano, as an accessible point south, is temporarily isolated. The town is a washout, so far as weather is concerned, but mightily important historically, commercially, aesthetically and spiritually. When the elements settle down to the regular routine, and travel is possible over the Williams' boys ranch, a new date will be set for the charter meeting, and there'll be a big time in the old town that night.

And then after the frost and the fog, the old familiar California sunshine returns to validate the reputation of the state. We do not stop to consider how few uncomfortable days we have out of the 365. The way some people yelp during the bad days you would think the fine days were few. After all it is quite noticeable that the east and the midwest keeps moving toward the Pacific coast. That is of itself a significant answer.

I notice where Jim Tucker says if anybody donates a dollar to the Community Chest they will be in good standing, and I presume that if $5 is contributed the standing will be that much better. Mr. Tucker has recently been named president of the Community Chest, which, by the way, is not the first civic honor paid to this civic minded citizen.

Those "don't tell any one" requests, like bread cast upon the waters, return after brief intervals to lower your faith in the party who pretended to have selected you as a confidant. You keep the confidence only to get the secret from some other source. Instead of being in the "holy of holies" you find yourself sitting on the curb of public gossip, and your opinion, your confidential friend melts like a snowball before an equatorial sizzle.

Those skeptics who said the Santiago dam never would fill up should see it now. What a fine body of water, says some of those same skeptics who shot an ulterior purpose at the builders. But gee, if it weren't for the builders we wouldn't get anything done. We will always have enough of the other kind.

And it came to pass during the political debate on the President's proposal to enlarge the supreme court that an opponent speaker used Moses as an illustration, and said the chief executive was attempting to lead the people out of the bullrushes. Maybe so, maybe so, but what about the wilderness?

And then there is the public utility employee who thought he knew how to roller skate. His only difficulty was controlling the skates. There was an incompatibility so inharmonious that the minute one wanted to go one way, the other wanted to go another. Which only goes to prove that it isn't every old skate who can skate.

How storm damage reports diminish after a factual investigation has been made is reported by a rancher who received word that a considerable part of his ranch had been washed down the river. Not easily disturbed he waited several days for the extent of the damage to reveal itself and then inspected the grove personally. Instead of losing an acre of ground the total loss was four trees. It was an interesting rumor while it lasted.

Some 55 neophytes are looking forward to exploring the mysteries of Elkhod next Tuesday night, Feb. 23, when a Grand Exalted Rulers class will appear for initiation. My recollection of an Elks' initiation goes back as far as 1904. I got the works by remote control, but the candidate ahead of me took the full load. The blow has been softened since those days, and an initiation into Elkhod today has been relieved of much of the burlesque. It takes on the serious, patriotic, spiritual and benevolent form. You get a lesson, if you follow it, which will make you a better citizen.
